

About the Sponsor

By providing counseling in their home, we offer the elderly and disabled services often unavailable to them because of mobility issues. Access to care gives clients emotional support, greater problem-solving capacity, and a sense of belonging.

GainWel, Inc., is a practice management group, offering counseling professionals an alternative to the traditional work setting, while providing patients high quality and creative therapy opportunities. By establishing a cooperative work arrangement, clinicians can focus their attention on providing therapy, while we provide background business essentials of marketing, billing and support.

GainWel is committed to continuing education in our communities and we strive to offer quality and relevant topics for our educational series.
